

Protect Your Baby from Meningococcal Meningitis

Saskatchewan is seeing higher-than-usual activity of meningococcal disease.

To help protect babies during this time, an additional meningococcal vaccine is being offered to eligible infants.

Is Your Baby Eligible?

Your child may be eligible if they are:

- 6 weeks to 11 months old
- Live in, travel to, or receive visitors from a First Nations community in Saskatchewan or Manitoba

Let your Public Health Nurse know if your child meets these criteria.

Why Is This Important?

Meningococcal disease can cause serious illness in babies and young children.

Vaccination helps provide earlier protection during this period of increased disease activity.

Learn More:

Contact your local Health Centre, Public Health Nurse, or healthcare provider for more information.

Vaccination helps protect your baby from serious illness.

